

Working with People

Many graduates say that they would like to work with people. Almost all jobs involve working with people to some degree, but of course the focus of the way you work with people can vary from role to role.

The image below indicates some of the many graduate roles involving direct contact with people.

For more information, visit: www.prospects.ac.uk/job-profiles & <https://nationalcareersservice.direct.gov.uk>